Prop Wash

By Claudia Contreras

Thank you to all of you who volunteered at the WVI Open House. This was my first time in being a part of the Dime-a-Pound rides. What a great time to be had by all. Thank You, Jeanne Sabankaya,,for taking on the task of putting the event together. I know you had a lot of help from the wonderful Monterey Bay members. I was lucky enough to be one of the pilots flying enthusiastic community members. We had a lot of waiting time while the fog sat right over our route of flight. Once it was clear enough to fly, all you saw where airplanes taking off and landing. We landed and loaded the airplanes back up and took off again. I did a total of 4 flights with 12 different passengers. Mentally exhausting, but completely worth it. I would do it again and I hope all of you do it again or give it a try.

I also want to thank the Chapter for providing me with a scholarship to attend my first International Meeting. For those of you that have not attended, you really need to do so. The Chapter offers a scholarship for all first time attendees. The money is there, take advantage of it. Montana was beautiful and green, with rivers everywhere. But despite the location the interaction with all the other ladies from all over was truly memorable. I met ladies from Germany, New Zealand, Italy, and all over the United States. It was truly mesmerizing to see our International Board at work, making decisions that you would never even begin to imagine. Being there truly gives you a better understanding as why we as an organization have been around for over 80 years and are still going strong.

Hospitality Volunteers

We are looking for volunteers to provide refreshments during our meetings. If you would like to volunteer please contact Joanne Nissen at 831-675-3950 or email ewesfly@aol.com

Local Aviation Book Signing

Author Craig S. Harwood will be giving a talk/book signing at the Scotts Valley Library on the theme of the book "Quest for Flight: John J., Montgomery and the Dawn of Aviation in the West" (a book carried in our chapter's library). Quest draws out of obscurity the significant contributions of John J. Montgomery and his Calif. based peers in the conquest of the skies at the turn of the century. An important phase of Montgomery's successful flight experiments occurred at Aptos at same time that the Wrights were working at Kitty Hawk. Also discussed in the role that women played in this visionary field in the pioneering phase of the conquest of the skies. The talk will be at 2:00PM on Saturday, August 17. Bring a friend and enjoy hearing about Kitty Hawk of the west. The book recently received honorable mention at the San Francisco Book Festival book awards, and it's manuscript version has been nominated for the History Manuscript Award (American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics). Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Stabilize Your Visual Approach
Notice Number: NOTC4840
For more info, go to FAASafety.gov

Reduce your risks during approach and landing by using a Stabilized Approach to the runway.

That's what the air carriers do. You'll have to develop your own rules for your Stabilized Approach depending on your aircraft. Here are some ideas to get started:

- Stabilized Approach begins at 500 feet AGL
- Approach airspeed is +5 -0
- Only small changes in heading/pitch are necessary to stay on flight path
- Aircraft is in the landing configuration

Once you've decided on your Stabilized Approach Rules make them part of your personal minimums.

If you find you are breaking a rule it's time go GO AROUND ...

Engine Failure and Off-Field Landing Choices

Mark:

"In the case when we can't safely glide to an airport, what kind of location should we be looking for?"

Bob:

"Any clear area without hazards or obstacles will serve you well. You're not looking for a perfect location. Far too many times, pilots compound the situation by trying to find the perfect location.

Finding a suitable field without large objects or objects that will adversely affect your landing will work very well for you. Airplanes stop pretty quickly. You know, we don't need a 5,000-foot field, but we do need to identify what in the field may influence our landing. A big rock, a ditch or a stream across the field will adversely affect our landing because when we hit a solid object our airplane comes to a sudden stop. That's where the injuries and fatalities do occur.

As a general rule, I strongly encourage avoiding roads due to traffic and power lines. Obviously, in certain parts of the country, this is less applicable than others. But I have to say at the outset, that our emergency does not entitle us to endanger other people. In that same vein, parking lots and golf courses where people might be present are not ideal primary choices.

Water versus trees: my personal sense is that water is not user friendly. In most water landings, the aircraft will not stay upright, leading to injuries and an immediate survival situation. Tree landings with the aircraft flown under control into the treetops are very survivable, often with only minor or no injuries to occupants."
